

Judicial Review of Regulations: Toward a Greater Commingling of Law and Economics? Speaker Associate Professor France Houle

Biography: France Houle is an Associate Professor at the Faculty of Law of the University of Montreal (Province of Quebec, Canada). She is teaching in the area of administrative law and legal methodology. Her research interests are in refugee law (procedure and evidence), guidelines, rule-making and regulatory reforms. She is currently working on the use of the Regulatory Impact Analysis Statement by Canadian judges to interpret the meaning and purpose of a regulation and the use of guidelines to remodel legislative schemes. She is affiliated with the CRIMT - The Centre of Research on Globalisation and Work - in which she participates in several research projects, including precarious forms of labour. She is developing a research project joining this theme with that of immigration.