

Trade in the Global Village: Harnessing and Building Capacities through Fairtrade

This lunchtime REGNET Seminar is part of the ReNet Seminar Series focusing on Governing Capacities and will feature two Fairtrade cocoa growers as part of the Meet the Makers tour held as part of Fair Trade Fortnight 2006 activities around Australia and New Zealand.

The seminar will explore how to link consumers and producers in a global village, and how to harness the capacity of trade and build the capacity of developing country producers to participate in the global trading system and eradicate poverty.

Cameron Neil and Anna Hutchens from the Centre for Governance of Knowledge and Development will share their views along with the cocoa growers.

Thursday 11th May, 12:30-1:30pm

Lecture Theatre 1.04, HC Coombs Extension Building, Corner Garran and Fellows Road, Australian National University
