

RegNet Conference

The Nodal and the Global

9-11 December, 2003

Innovations Building

A First Annual Conference: The Regulatory Institutions Network will have an annual conference in the second week of December every year. Starting next year, these will be more traditional conferences for which there will be a registration fee and a general call for papers. Registration is free this year. Because RegNet has had such huge growth in the number of RegNet faculty in the Research School of Social Sciences at ANU, this year's conference will be mainly dedicated to RegNet RSSS people listening to each other, finding out what points of connection we should be better exploring, with just two set piece papers from overseas stars. The locals will not be presenting formal papers. Instead they have been clustered into eight groups to lead conversations about the ideas they are working on.
